

Birding at El Chorro (2016.04.01)
by BIRDAYTRIP
www.birdaytrip.com

What a fantastic day, with all the targets achieved!

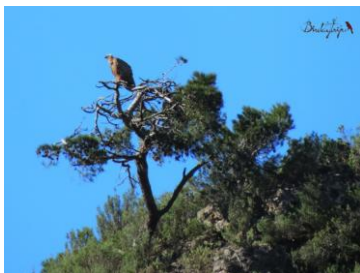

Crested Tit, Rock Bunting, Rock Sparrow, Dartford Warbler, Black Wheatear, Blue Rock Thrush, Alpine Swift, Griffon Vulture, Golden Eagle and Bonelli's Eagle.

Regarding the Bonelli's Eagles, so aggressive birds that can make a vulture fall 25 meters down hanging on its back or chase Golden Eagles out of their territory, we have witnessed today how an adult male has sweetly "invited" and "scorted" a young eagle out of his territory. They can also show mercy...

We have visited Alora on our way back to Malaga, where we had great views of common and Lesser Kestrels.

Bonelli's Eagle (Aquila fasciata)

Griffon Vulture (Gyps fulvus)

Large Psammodromus (Psammodromus algirus)

Short-toed Treecreeper (Certhia brachydactyla)

Lesser Kestrel (Falco naumanni)