

BESPOKE SOUTH AFRICA: CAPE TO KRUGER — CUSTOM BIRDING AND MAMMALS TRIP REPORT

01–17 AUGUST 2022

Secretarybird was a major trip target for the group and was a fitting end-of-tour present.

Overview

This custom tour was prepared for a group of Spanish birders and was, unfortunately, one of many Covid-postponed tours. It was eventually run in August 2022.

This tour began in Cape Town, following our ‘usual’ 8-day Cape Town and Beyond itinerary. We spent several days on and around the Cape Peninsula, including a pelagic off the coast and a jaunt out beyond False Bay to look for Cape Rockjumpers and other endemics. A brief stint up the west coast, north of Cape Town, followed. We transited inland to the Tankwa Karoo for some endemic-rich birding and then back to Cape Town for our flight to Johannesburg in northern South Africa.

The eastern leg began, with the group heading to the world-famous Kruger National Park, stopping along the way at Dullstroom for some further endemic birding. Visiting this park during the dry winter months is always special, with large numbers of game easily visible and excellent birding. We moved away from the diverse bushveld into the montane forests of the Magoebaskloof hills. We then gradually made our way back to Johannesburg, first stopping north of the city in the Rust de Winter Nature Reserve. We saw many species, both birds and mammals, please see the full detailed list at the end of this report.

Mammals, like this African Elephant, were a feature in the Kruger National Park.

Detailed Report

Day 1, 1st August 2022. Arrival into Cape Town

Our first day started around mid-morning when the group arrived at Cape Town International Airport. We collected our vehicle and headed for our lodge in Simon's Town. After settling in, we headed out for some afternoon birding. We decided that Kommetjie would be a good nearby birding spot for the first taste of South African birding. We were very fortunate to record all four of the possible marine cormorant species here, Bank, Cape, Crowned, and White-breasted Cormorants. Terns were in short supply with the only ones seen being Greater Crested (Swift) Tern and Common Tern. A couple of Spotted Thick-knees put in a good showing, to everyone's delight, as we started heading back to the vehicle.

The endemic Orange-breasted Sunbird was a feature around the Cape Peninsula.

Day 2, 2nd August 2022. Cape Rockjumpers, Rooiels and Betty's Bay

Our second day started with a scrumptious breakfast at the lodge. We had a full schedule and spent a fair amount of time at Rooiels, enjoying the good birding there. We started with a cracking individual Fairy Flycatcher, a species the tour guide had never seen there before. Fairly distant views of Ground Woodpecker were followed by a sighting of Grey Tit (Luis Mario only), Grey-backed Cisticola, Orange-breasted Sunbird and Cape Rock Thrush. We had to work for Victorin's Warbler but were eventually rewarded with a good sighting of this notorious skulker. Our main target here, the endemic Cape Rockjumper, took a while to show but in the end gave us fantastic views. An overly long lunch break was followed by a visit to the local penguin colony where we got to see African Penguin, Water Thick-knee, Hartlaub's Gull and a repeat performance of all four of the marine cormorant species. A quick, late afternoon visit to Harold Porter Botanical Gardens delivered a number of new species, with a stunning Klaas's Cuckoo as the first act. Brief views of Cape Sugarbird followed and we were also treated to sightings of Cape Spurfowl, White-necked Raven, Sombre Greenbul and Brimstone Canary, as well as several Streaky-headed Seedeaters. On our way out we were treated to fine sightings of African Dusky Flycatcher and Swee Waxbill.

Cape Rockjumper was a major target for our time around Cape Town – fortunately, we managed a good sighting of this species!

Day 3, 3rd August 2022. Pelagic off Cape Town

Today was scheduled for a pelagic and the group was fortunate to be greeted by very calm seas. Bilen and I dropped everyone at the harbor before making our way to Strandfontein Sewage Treatment Plant, where we would spend the day, opting out of the pelagic trip. Here we were treated to our first Jackal Buzzard of the trip, followed by the likes of Great White Pelican, Cape Teal, Maccoa Duck, Southern Pochard and a rather rare find around Cape Town, Fulvous Whistling Duck. Both Lesser and Greater Flamingo were present in good numbers. Linking up with the group in the afternoon, they recounted their productive pelagic trip, with a summary of the species as below:

Northern Royal Albatross - one

Shy Albatross - hundreds

Black-browed Albatross - hundreds

Indian Yellow-nosed Albatross - two

Northern Giant Petrel - five

Southern Giant Petrel - two

White-chinned Petrel - hundreds

Sooty Shearwater - hundreds

Soft-plumaged Petrel - one

Cape (Pintado) Petrel - tens

Cape Gannet - hundreds

Brown Skua - tens

Hump-backed Whale - two

Sunfish - one

Birding Ecotours
Dominic Rollinson

Cape Petrel was a spectacular species found on our pelagic off Cape Town.

Day 4, 4th August 2022. Birding from Cape Town to Langebaan

The drive from Cape Town went pretty smoothly with traffic flowing well. We left the northern suburbs of the city and our first stop at a gas station en route gave us a super obliging Little Rush Warbler and a juvenile Black-crowned Night Heron at a little pond. From there we headed straight to the Darling Hills area near the town of Darling, in search of several target birds on our list. It started fairly slowly, but we soon heard Grey-winged Francolin calling and managed to lure a couple of them into the open for good but fairly distant views. We did not wait long to find our first displaying Cape Clapper Lark and soon we had several birds doing their typical wing-snapping followed by a whistle display. There were also several Large-billed Lark calling in the area and good visuals were obtained before we were all alerted to a Verreaux's Eagle soaring overhead in search of prey. After a quick lunch in Darling we made our way to West Coast National Park, where our first stop produced several calling Southern Black Korhaan, as well as our first Common Ostrich for the trip. At Geelbek hide we were treated to a nice selection of overwintering shorebirds which included Grey Plover, Eurasian Whimbrel, Eurasian Curlew, Bar-tailed Godwit and Curlew Sandpiper. The rest of the group also had a chance to catch up on both flamingo species (Greater and Lesser Flamingo) here and we soon added Caspian Tern as well.

Day 5, 5th August 2022. Birding from Langebaan to the Tankwa Karoo

This was supposed to be a morning excursion to the Vredenburg area to look for Cape Long-billed Lark. However, several of our planned routes were closed due to road works, and we had to decide on alternative routes. Fortunately, all worked out well and we soon had excellent views of this weird looking lark with its immense bill. Other good birds in the area included a stunning Martial Eagle and our first Namaqua Dove for the trip. From Vredenburg we headed to Velddrift where we were soon rewarded with views of Chestnut-banded Plover, Black-necked Grebe, Pied Kingfisher and Purple Heron. The rest of the drive was rather uneventful, but we did manage to find our first Blue Crane, as well as a rather early Barn Swallow.

Day 6, 6th August 2022. Birding the Tankwa Karoo

Waking up in the serenity of the Karoo has to be experienced to be appreciated. Couple this to arguably the best breakfast of the trip and excellent birding to follow and you have the perfect recipe for an incredible day. We found our first and probably our most wanted target, Cinnamon-breasted Warbler before even exiting our base camp. With that pressure off, we soon added the likes of Mountain Wheatear, Karoo Chat and Rufous-eared Warbler. A bit further along we found a pair of South African Shelduck at a puddle of water and recorded several Pale Chanting Goshawk along the way. Karoo Lark were plentiful, but we had to travel quite far north to find our first Karoo Korhaan and Tractrac Chat. Other good birds included Booted Eagle, White-throated Canary, Sickle-winged Chat and Pririt Batis.

Cinnamon-breasted Warbler was a big target in the Tankwa Karoo.

Day 7, 7th August 2022. Birding from the Tankwa Karoo to Cape Town

After another scrumptious breakfast, we looked for the Red-chested Flufftail that we had heard the previous day, as it would be a lifer for Luis Mario. It took a bit of perseverance but we were eventually rewarded with cracking views of this super-shy rallid! From there we worked a patch of suitable-looking habitat for Karoo Eremomela and did not wait long before laying eyes on this stunning bird. On our way back towards Ceres we stopped at Karoopoort where we soon found Layard's Warbler, Namaqua Warbler and Acacia Pied Barbet. Our final target for the day was the rather elusive Protea Canary and again we prevailed, with everyone having great views of this South African endemic. There were also incredibly many Cape Sugarbird in this area, to everyone's delight. There was very little left of the day, but we managed to squeeze in a quick stop at Strandfontein to try and locate Fulvous Whistling Duck for Luis Mario, unfortunately without success.

Day 8, 8th August 2022. Transfer from Cape Town to Johannesburg – the eastern leg

After breakfast at our lodge in Cape Town we headed to the airport for our flight to Johannesburg, where we arrived around midday. After collecting our rental vehicle and a quick lunch, we headed due east to the town of Dullstroom. Our lodge was a little distance from Dullstroom itself, with atypical habitat for the area and thus yielded a surprising number of birds not usually associated with the greater Dullstroom area. It did not take us long to record our first Swainson's Spurfowl en route, with several Long-tailed Widowbird also putting in a showing, albeit without their characteristic long tails, which they lose during our winter months. Nearer the lodge, Southern Black Flycatcher was abundantly common and a showy Fiery-necked Nightjar topped off our day.

We found Gurney's Sugarbird after a concerted search around Dullstroom.

Day 9, 9th August 2022. Birding Dullstroom, and transfer to Kruger

Some brief birding the next morning along the entry road to the lodge produced a pair of Yellow-fronted Tinkerbirds and we heard several Coqui Francolin in the vicinity. Further along we made a quick U-turn as we spotted several Southern Bald Ibis feeding in a field, followed by a Long-crested Eagle perched on a roadside utility pole. After a quick stop for breakfast in Dullstroom, we hiked up a mountain to search for the highly sought-after Cape Eagle-Owl. This was well worth it, with great sightings of the owl and a chick. A pair of Malachite Kingfisher showed well at a local dam and an African Darter was recorded as well. The next stop was the protea-covered slopes of a nearby mountain stakeout for our second and last species of sugarbird, Gurney's Sugarbird. It took some searching, but we were rewarded with great views and added several other species, such as Cape Vulture, Greater Double-collared Sunbird, Lazy and Wailing Cisticola in the process. After this, we made steady progress to Kruger, with no noteworthy stops along the way, as we were a bit pressed for time. Once in Kruger, we slowed the pace and managed to record White-backed Vulture and Woolly-necked Stork before getting to camp with only a minute to spare before the gates were closed for the night.

Days 10 – 12, 10th – 12th August 2022. Kruger National Park

Our time in the Kruger National Park was spent between the camps of Skukuza and Satara. We followed a variety of routes to maximize our chances of finding as many bird species as possible and to afford us the best chances of spending time with some of the iconic wildlife to be found in South Africa's flagship national park. The days tended to blur together, so we have run through our time in Kruger as one piece below.

We were to use an open game drive vehicle for the entire time we were in the park. Our first day got off to a great start as we headed south towards the Malelane/Berg-en-Dal area, focusing on the gravel road network. We soon found a pair of Double-banded Sandgrouse right on the road, providing amazing photo opportunities. Not long afterwards we found our first herd of African Elephant, which turned out to be just one of many sightings of these incredible giants of Africa. Good birds along the way included Emerald-spotted Wood Dove, Burchell's Coucal, Hooded and Lappet-faced Vulture. Perhaps one of the best sightings, bird-wise, had to be a perched Ovambo Sparrowhawk, a bird not often seen in the park. As it turned out, this morning would be our best morning as far as mammals go. Having just found three White Rhino at a waterhole, we were alerted to a pride of Lion nearby. We rushed over and had good sightings of some of the members of the pride who had made a kill just out of sight in the riverbed. To top that, one of the participants noticed some movement near the vehicle and upon closer inspection it turned out to be a beautiful female Leopard. We followed her for a while as she made her way through the brush and even had her crossing the road right in front of us. We were treated to even more rhino and lion sightings before heading to a nearby picnic site for coffee and breakfast. We found Greater Honeyguide, African Green Pigeon and African Openbill along the way. At Berg-en-Dal we found our first Knob-billed Duck in the rather dry dam with Hamerkop also in attendance. On the way back to Skukuza we were treated to Little and White-fronted Bee-eater as well as a calling Red-chested Korhaan.

The next two days saw us finding an incredible number of mammal species, including the likes of African Buffalo, several antelope species and even more Lion and African Elephant. Some time was spent around the Lower Sabie area, Lake Panic bird hide and the general area around Satara. Around Skukuza, we sighted Purple-crested Turaco, Brown-headed Parrot, African Goshawk and Southern Ground Hornbill. Around Lower Sabie we found Common Ostrich, Bateleur, Yellow-billed Stork, Marabou Stork and Goliath Heron. On the way to Satara we saw Shelley's Francolin, Crested Francolin, Kori Bustard, Mourning Collared Dove, Saddle-billed Stork and African Hawk Eagle. In Satara camp we soon found the resident African Scops Owl at its daytime roost, much to everyone's delight. Other good birds in camp included White-crested Helmetshrike, Jameson's Firefinch and Southern Yellow-billed Hornbill. Near camp we also found our first Temminck's Courser, Red-billed and Yellow-billed Oxpecker, Grey-backed and Chestnut-backed Sparrow-Lark, Southern White-crowned Shrike and Tawny Eagle.

Southern Ground Hornbill was - as always - an exciting find in the Kruger National Park.

This tour produced many sightings of Lion, one of Kruger's prizes.

Day 13, 13th August 2022. Transfer from Kruger to Magoebaskloof

All too soon we had to say goodbye to Kruger, but not before spending our last morning birding in the vicinity of Satara camp, with good finds in the form of Gabar Goshawk, Greater Blue- eared Starling, Brown-hooded Kingfisher, Crested Barbet and Marico Sunbird. A quick stop at Orpen gate to grab a coffee saw us finding our first White-throated Robin-Chat for the trip, followed by the first and only Purple Roller just outside the park. We arrived in Magoebaskloof in the late afternoon and settled in to our hotel for a bit of rest before dinner.

Day 14, 14th August 2022. Birding the Magoebaskloof forests

The following day was spent exploring the famous Woodbush Drive, traversing exquisite remnant patches of indigenous montane forest. We had hardly entered the forest before encountering our first feeding flock, comprising the sought-after Black-fronted Bushshrike and other great species like White-starred Robin, Chorister Robin-Chat, Square-tailed Drongo, Cape Batis and Sombre Greenbul. Our drive continued with regular stops to bird on foot. Soon enough I heard the familiar call of Orange Ground Thrush, another highly sought-after, but difficult to view, species. We spent some time locating the calling bird and most of the group got good views before it moved off, we managed to relocate it and this time everyone got onto the bird. Other good birds here included Narina Trogon, Black Saw-wing, Olive Woodpecker, Yellow-streaked Greenbul and even Green Twinspot. We found a very obliging Forest Buzzard in a patch of pine and also Brown-backed Honeybird and Knysna Turaco nearby. Our late afternoon visit to a local stakeout for Bat Hawk unfortunately failed to turn up any sign of them.

Narina Trogon was a stunning bird found in the forested areas of South Africa.

Day 15, 15th August 2022. Birding from Magoebaskloof to Rust de Winter

A quick drive before breakfast with some of the group back to Woodbush Drive scored us our target, Cape Parrot, and we were treated to some good fly-by's. Back at the hotel we enjoyed a good breakfast and then made our way to Polokwane Game Reserve where we hoped to find our target, Short-clawed Lark, without too much trouble. Once inside the reserve we were soon rewarded with an obliging pair of Groundscraper Thrush at the entrance. Namaqua Dove was common throughout the reserve. It was pretty quiet on the way to the water hole, but this changed at the water hole, with birds coming and going all the time to drink. We soon notched up Green-winged Pytilia, Black-faced Waxbill, Violet-eared Waxbill, Crimson-breasted Shrike and many more. A noisy little flock of Burnt-necked Eremomela betrayed their presence and then we found a Brown Snake Eagle in a tree nearby. After seeing several Sabota Lark, we eventually found and enjoyed great views of the localized Short-clawed Lark. On the way south we found our first White Stork of the trip. We arrived at the entrance road to Zenzele River Lodge and on the way in found another great species in the way of Bushveld Pipit.

Crimson-breasted Shrike, a denizen of the dry acacia thornveld, was strikingly beautiful.

Day 16, 16th August 2022. Birding Zaagkuilsdrift and surrounds

This day saw us birding along the famous (in birding circles) Zaagkuilsdrift road, where we soon found species such as Marico Flycatcher, Black-chested Prinia, Pearl-breasted Swallow, Black-chested Snake Eagle and many species we'd encountered earlier in the trip. Zenzele itself, with its location on the Elands River, was an oasis that proved to be a magnet for birds. Both Giant and Half-collared Kingfisher were common here and the likes of Squacco and Striated Heron put in a regular showing. In the grounds we were treated to good sightings of Little Sparrowhawk, Lesser Honeyguide and a nesting pair of Golden-tailed Woodpecker, amongst others.

Day 17, 17th August 2022. Departure from Johannesburg

For some bizarre reason we had, as yet, failed to find Secretarybird on the trip and, as this was high on everyone's wishlist, we decided to make a special detour to the Devon area, east of Johannesburg, to see if we could finally connect with it. After a long drive, arriving around mid-morning, we started traversing the network of farm roads. We covered a lot of ground, finding another target, Blue Korhaan, before eventually finding our first Secretarybird, to everyone's delight. The trip was rounded off successfully with a great target bird under the belt. We made our way back to Johannesburg, where the tour came to a close in the afternoon with the group departing back home.

This was a quintessential scene from the Kruger National Park.

Bird List - Following IOC (12.2)

Birds 'heard only' are marked with (H) after the common name, all other species were seen.
